“Environment Now helped me learn how to work independently and to trust my own decisions. I met a lot of people through outreach. The connections I made and interactions I had with the public gave me an opportunity to develop my communication and problem solving skills.

“The Environment Now program was a stepping stone in my career.”

-Janelle Phung
Family and Schools Coordinator
San Francisco Bicycle Coalition
“My time with Environment Now was integral in helping me find what I feel is my niche. The skills I learned during my time there have been invaluable in the roles I have had since.”

-Keith Dews
Residential Zero Waste Associate
San Francisco Department of the Environment
“Environment Now opened up doors that I thought were permanently closed for me. Because of the program, I now have a successful consulting career and know I can progress even further.”

-Tina Addi
Project Associate
Cascadia Consulting
“Environment Now has changed my life in so many ways. It showed me that I have a voice and that even the smallest things can have a large ripple effect. The extensive training I received and outreach I did, has built my self-esteem tremendously.”

“Environment Now believed in me and I now, believe in myself. I know what I want in life and most importantly I now have a career in the environmental field that I love.”

-Jennifer McPike
Special Events Coordinator
San Francisco Conservation Corps
